

Contract Recruitment Services

Locher has a reputation for excellence in the delivery of quality professional contractors to our private and public sector client base. We pride ourselves on the depth and breadth of talent, skills and experience of our contractors. We recognise the importance of our client's individual needs and each assignment is analysed to ensure we have a clear understanding of the skills and experience required.

The quality of our assignments and our blue chip client base has attracted the very best contractors, thereby ensuring you receive the best interim solution available. Our pre-assessed, pre-qualified pool of talented executive professionals are motivated by challenge and variety, exceeding your expectations and adding value to your organisation.

Our rigorous recruitment process includes an extensive database search, targeted press and/or web advertising campaign, full behavioural design interview process, presentation of short listed candidates and full reference checking.

Our specialisations include:

- * Graduate recruitment
- * Finance professionals;
- * HR professionals;
- * Marketing professionals;
- * Business analysts;
- * IT&T professionals; and
- * General executive contractors.

Temporary Staff

The need for temporary staff often comes without warning. Locher consultants are renowned for their speed of response to client needs due to their strong candidate database and in-depth knowledge of the market. The quality of pre-qualified resources available from our database is exceptionally high, offering job-ready candidates.

Locher has a solution for every temporary staffing challenge, including peak workloads, periods of leave, specialist skill requirements and deadline management.

By employing a flexible workforce, whether at clerical and administrative level or at the executive, professional and technical level, organisations convert fixed overheads to variable costs. As a result, you only pay for the resources when you need them.

To meet these increasing workforce demands, Locher's temporary services area focuses on both temporary support placements and longer-term senior level assignments. We have a large and diverse work-ready team who know how to get the job done quickly and professionally, giving you maximum flexibility in your workforce planning.
